A balanced approach

- Appropriately responds to a new phenomenon that is causing substantial harm to property owners and stakeholders
- Gives property owners the benefit of knowledge about their vulnerabilities and an opportunity to cure
- Does not prohibit aerial surveillance or reasonable underwriting decisions
- Advances the goals of reducing risk and keeping structures insured
- Avoids conflicts with current state laws on non-renewal notice periods

Virtually no homeowner is safe from aerial surveillance. The WSJ reported in April that the insurance-industry-funded Geospatial Insurance Consortium can use airplanes to take images of the homes of at least 99% of the U.S. population.

The WSJ says the situation is likely to get worse. If future satellite launches go as planned, it might be possible to update images of houses on a daily basis by 2030.

NCOIL Model Act Regarding Insurers' Use of Aerial Images

- Sets reasonable limits on a currently unregulated practice by insurers
- Ensures that photos used for underwriting will be reasonably current, not outdated
- Gives the property owner information about risks associated w/their property that they may not know but should know
- Gives the property owner a chance to correct misinformation/errors and stay insured

NCOIL Model Act Regarding Insurers' Use of Aerial Images

- Appropriately rewards the property owner who takes action to reduce risk
- Provides an essential incentive for investing time and money into risk reduction property improvements
- The sponsors have taken numerous amendments including giving insurers flexibility to non-renew for a business reason unrelated to what the aerial images show, and shortening the amount of time the property owner has to cure (w/drafting note to states)

Roadmap to Preparedness Program

Dropped by your home insurer?
Steps to take in California

Act Promptly
Read the paperwork from your insurer. Contact them and ask if there are home improvements you can make that will get them to reverse their decision to drop you. Note: The non-renewal notice must be sent to you 90 days before the policy expires. www.uphelp.org/insurancesave

STEP 1
Know Your Rights & Get Help
If you believe that you are being non-renewed in violation of the law, file a "Consumer Complaint" with the California Department of Insurance. www.insurance.ca.gov/01-consumers

STEP 2
Shop for Options
Work with a good agent to find all options including "non-admitted" insurers. Watch UP shopping help videos and use CIP tools. www.uphelp.org/cip/insurancesavehelp

STEP 3
Be Prepared to Pay More, Avoid Cutting Coverage
Aim to insure your home for what it would cost to rebuild it and the risk you face in your area. Keep good notes of your conversations. Avoid gaps in the flow of

What's UP with Flood Insurance?

Generally speaking, damage caused by wind-driven or falling rain that enters your home through an opening is covered under your home policy, but damage from rising water/flood damage is not. You can buy flood insurance to fill that gap.

What you should know:

- You can add a flood insurance endorsement to your policy or buy flood insurance through the National Flood Insurance Program ("NFIP").
- There is generally a 10-30 day waiting period from the date you buy it to the date it kicks in.
- Flood insurance can be very affordable but the cost
